Guests of Honor

Yasuhiro Nightow

Mr. Nightow is a veteran Japanese comic artist of nearly a decade, with works such as Samurai Spirits. He gained great popularity as the creator of the space western comic, Trigun, which has been adapted into a hit animated TV series. Mr. Nightow's comic, Trigun, has just been released in the United States by Dark Horse comics. Mr. Nightow is currently working on the upcoming GunGrave anime.

Takahiro Yoshimatsu

Mr. Yoshimatsu was the character designer for Jubei-Chan: The Ninja Girl, Trigun and Cyber Formula. He also served as the character designer and animation director for the popular Slayers Movie. Currently, Mr. Yoshimatsu is enjoying the success of his current work, the Ninja Scroll TV series.

Daisuke Moriyama

Mr. Moriyama is the creator behind the critically acclaimed and widely popular Chro Crusade manga, now being distributed by ADV Manga. The Chro Crusade anime already has a strong fan following in the United States and is being produced in Japan by Gonzo Productions.

T.M.Revolution

T.M.Revolution has sold millions of albums in Japan and is taking the United States by storm. He has swept into American households with two title tracks from the hit anime series Mobile Suit Gundam Seed and Rurou ni Kenshin (AKA Samurai X). Heart of Sword, and INVOKE have already been huge hits in Japan.

Nami Tamaki

Nami Tamaki is the 15 year-old prodigy behind the hit opening theme song Believe from Mobile Suit Gundam Seed.

Special Guest

Miyavi

Miyavi has sparked an unbelievable solo career with his first full album Gagaku released on October 2002. With each new release, Miyavi touches on a wide range of music that encompasses hard rock to acoustic. His instant popularity has placed him on the cover of Shox and Fool's Mate, the premiere visual kei magazines, several times. Now he's crossing the Pacific to rock the U.S. at the Pacific Media Expo!
